(Serial no 3 of Section III)

The Excise Commissioner submitted for sanction a proposition Statement for the reduction of Establishment at the Bangalore Central Distillery as the large scale of Establishment which was in existence at the time was found unnecessary under the present system of distillation introduced by Messrs Parry & Co. showing a monthly saving of Rs 115 or yearly Rs 1380/- Govt sanctioned the reduction as proposed.

2. The Excise Commissioner submits for the Govt a statement of proposition for revision of his Office Establishment, stating that the increase proposed in 1892 to secure well qualified and efficient hands to carry on the work in Office does not entail additional charge nor does it necessitate the sanction of the British Resident, as there will be no increase to the proportionate cost debitable to the Civil and Military Station, the aggregate cost of the proposed District and Office Establishment being the same as in the past year. The statement stands thus:—

From The Excise Commissioner No 874
47 dated 9th August 1892, submitting a revised statement of establishment for the Excise Commissioner's office.

Order thereon No dated

1 The whole administration and responsibility involved in the recovery of the Excise Revenue under all heads will hereafter be vested in the Deputy Commissioners who will be left free to carry out the details connected therewith but will give effect to the general rules prescribed for their guidance from time to time.

2 The Excise Commissioner's office will be restricted to analyzing, collecting, reviewing and submitting for the whole Province the District returns and reports received from the Deputy Commissioners and the Special Assistant Commissioner in charge of the Distillery and Detective work. The Deputy Commissioners will give effect to all rules of a Provincial character prescribed for their guidance by the Excise Commissioner, copy whereof will be sent to Government for approval. In any matter of a special nature requiring special sanction the Excise Commissioner will in consultation with the Deputy Commissioners elicit their views and submit the same with his opinion for the orders of Government. This course will also be adopted when Government need any information.

3 The Excise Commissioner is now requested to go carefully over the existing rules under all heads of Excise and in consultation with the Deputy Commissioners and his Excise Asst^{ts} Commissioner submit the required alterations and amendments necessary to give effect to the foregoing proposals under all heads of Excise within one month from this date.

4 A set of instructions for the guidance of Asst^{ts} Commissioners, Amildars and other subordinate executive staff should also be prepared and submitted at the same time.

5 There should be no correspondence between the Excise Commissioner's office and the Amildars and Bonded Depot Vendors as this weakens the authority and responsibility of District officers.

6 A revised scale of the establishment needed for the Excise Commissioner's office, to give effect to the present proposals, prepared in this office, is appended and should be brought into force forthwith. The hands required by Mr McDonnell, who will have special direct charge of the Excise Commissioner's office, as personal Assistant to the Excise Commissioner, should be selected and retained and those not required transferred to Deputy Commissioners.
